

We consistently receive positive feedback from our customers. Below, see how a handful of customers are leveraging our program to enhance their lives as well as the lives of their families.

The thought of having a computer financed and not having my credit checked was just a relief beyond measure. I am truly grateful for programs like Purchasing Power!!

- Manufacturing Customer

Purchasing Power enables you to purchase electronics without the hassle of paying up front. Payroll deductions are convenient and reasonable.

- Federal Government Customer

I make a decent wage but have had some credit problems in the past. This has offered me the opportunity to purchase a high quality computer with an easy payroll deduction payment plan. Thank you so much.

- Healthcare Customer

I have two payments left on a laptop that I purchased last year for my daughter for Christmas. I have been so pleased with the payments and ease of the whole transaction. I am now purchasing my son a desktop computer and daughter a camera package for this Christmas. As a single parent, neither one of these items would have been possible if not for this program. Thank You.

- Healthcare Customer

I like the fact that the bundles come ready to use and all programs are included. Great quality of electronics. Will purchase time and time again. Great program for anyone who has bad credit or good credit. Thank You.

- Manufacturing Customer

Purchasing Power's employers have had great success with the program as well. The tenure qualification encourages retention and the computer and consumer electronics increase employee self-service and benefits satisfaction.

We have participated in Purchasing Power's program for a year and a half. The employees are very pleased with the selection and the added advantage of a payroll deduction process. One employee has mentioned that this is the best benefit we offer and has already made multiple purchases. The 12-month, interest free, no credit check process has made all the difference.

- Manager of Benefits and Compensation

Purchasing Power's Computer Purchase Program has been a widely popular voluntary benefit. The implementation process was simple and the on-going administration is virtually seamless given the state-of-the-art technology interfaces. Not only is this a benefit that the whole family can take advantage of, but the improved computer literacy of employees directly supports a number of corporate initiatives.
